

Dear Pastor,

I've been singing gospel music for the past 27 years...the last 18 with the Melody Boys Quartet of Little Rock, Arkansas. What a great adventure it has been to travel and sing professionally about a risen Savior as part of a quartet. I've been privileged to sing the gospel in 38 states across our great nation, as well as Canada; in venues like the National Quartet Convention, the Grand Ole Gospel Reunion, Gaither Homecomings, fairs auditoriums and churches of every size and denomination. The Lord has truly fulfilled the desires of my heart.

You never know what God has in store for you. For two years I had been feeling the pull on my heart to leave something that I dearly loved without knowing what door I'd be walking through. I knew He wanted me to leave but not what He wanted me to do. Finally, in faith (and not without much trembling), in January of 2005, I resigned from the quartet. Six weeks later, in that same faith (and trembling), I stepped through the door He opened...to remain in gospel music...now as a soloist.

In a 27-year span, life happens to you...ready or not. Today I find myself a husband of 30 years; not only a father, but also a father-in-law, and a grandfather of three...life really is just a vapor! I now attempt to share in my music program many of the life lessons we all must learn and come to grips with, but the central truth of my presentation is this... You can have a lifetime of love. We live in a world where not only the unsaved need to hear this, it serves as a reminder for the struggling Christian.

My presentation is flexible to many variables...a church service, a church or class function, a men's conference, retreat or revival. I ask you to allow me to present my program to your church. It will fit comfortably within in a 45-60 minute window. My music reaches across many styles and appeals to all ages.

I ask for a love offering and travel expenses. I'm excited about where this ministry will lead and what God will accomplish through it. Please take a moment to visit my website and prayerfully consider my request.

Faithfully,

Mike Franklin
